Guess who the above young lady is and you will have guessed the winner of the Ladies' Riding Ring. She is a mountain maiden "sweet sixteen," or thereabouts, and those who know her best think she is the finest rider in Eastern Kentucky. No, we are not at liberty to tell you where she comes from. You must work out the problem for yourself.

Mrs. Jas. Hargis, little son and daughter, of Jackson, are at the Day House. They will remain over the week.

For apples, pears, bananas, grapes and fancy candies call on A. P. Clark at the Fair Grounds.

Young man, don't run your horse through the street. You will raise a dust, and besides you violate the law.

Bring your watches and jewelry to Jno. M. Rose's store for J. M. Haven's to repair. He guarantees.

Call at the De Busk feed stable with your horse and have him well cared for during the Fair.

Charles Buchanan, practical boot and shoe maker. Barber shop in connection, near Herald office.

J. B. Davis returned last night from Welch, West Virginia, where he has been engaged in the stone masonry business.

Galen Howard, of Salysville, a former student of the Academy is down for a good time at the Fair. Galen goes all the gait.

A. T. Brooks, who is teaching in Powell county, is visiting his brother's family near Hazel Green and will take in the Fair.

This promises to be the best Fair we have ever had, and it only illustrates what advertising will do, even in hard times.

Mrs. Eliza Swango, wife of Register G. B. Swango, arrived Friday from Frankfort and will remain until after the Fair.

Dr. M. C. Kash, of Farmers, is visiting at his old home on Gillmore. Mack's Hatchet was an effective weapon in days gone by.

Don't forget that Hon. Jo M. Kendall will address the multitude at the Fair Grounds on Thursday, and be sure to hear him.

Messrs. Bruce Marcum, Oscar Little and Ben Hargis, three gallant young gentlemen of Jackson, are registered at the Day House.

F. McGuire suffered with a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism Sunday morning, but we are glad to note that he is up today.

Remember the entertainment at the Academy Thursday evening by the West Liberty Dramatic Club. Everybody should attend.

Misses Mattie Duff and Liddle L. d-ford, two charming and beautiful young ladies of Spencer, are visiting Miss Lillie Evans, of this city.

Harry Gamble, of Blaine, Lawrence county, Kentucky, an ex-Representative, of the Legislature, has three horses to exhibit at the Fair.

This is a gala week for Hazel Green and we hope every visitor will be well pleased with the Fair and the town and come again next year.

Ed. French and Eugene Adkinson, of Stanton, and John Adams, of Magoffin county, are here to enter Hazel Green Academy next Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Mize entertained at tea, last evening in honor of Mrs. G. B. Swango, of Frankfort, and Mrs. H. L. Goodsey, of Washington, D. C.

John Howerton, a former citizen of Hazel Green, but now of Mt. Sterling, is visiting his brother, Duke Howerton, and shaking hands with his friends.

Dr. J. F. Lockhart, dentist, is located in the rear of the brick building on the corner of Main and Broadway. Call on him and have your teeth examined.

If you want a good square meal, call on us at the Fair grounds. Fresh meats, fish, hot coffee, etc.

1-4t CATRON & HILL.

Patronize those who advertise in THE HERALD and you will save money. The man who is too penurious to advertise is usually too stingy to give a stranger full measure.

Judge G. B. Swango is in attendance at the annual reunion of the Confederate veteran's association at Russellville. He will probably arrive for the two last days of the Fair.

Watch these columns closely and spend your money with those who advertise. That is the way to encourage home enterprise, and if people would only make that a rule times would soon be better.

Jolly John Pieratt, the Jocular Jockey, is at his old stand. His stable needs no recommendation from us to the traveling public. If you want your horse and buggy well cared for call on him.

Miss Myrtle Maxey, of West Liberty, and Lizzie Cux, of Mt. Sterling, two highly accomplished and beautiful young ladies are visiting the family of Hon. J. E. Quickall.

A. M. Nickell, the courteous and accommodating money changer will sell tickets again for the association. Confer a favor on him by paying for your ticket in small change.

The Fair, the Fair—of course you will go to the Fair.

To see all the races, The patchwork and lace, And all the pretty faces that's there.

W. L. May, of Magoffin, has a fine string of horses at his stables. If we had a few such men in our country, the horse would soon be a paying product instead of the drag that he now is on our markets.

W. W. McGuire, the attorney for the Bross Railroad Company, paid our office a pleasant call Monday, and from his talk we judge that everybody will be here from West Liberty to take in the Fair.

W. R. Metcalfe, representing the Mayfield Woolen Mills, of Mayfield, Ky., will be at the Day House during the Fair with a line of Cashmere and Jeans pants. Merchants are requested to call and examine his line.

Miss Mina Hon, of Bowen, Powell county, will teach a class in drawing here during the fall if she can secure enough scholars to justify her. She attended the school at Cincinnati for two years, and is said to be proficient in her art.

Mr. Sam. Tabor, of Rotiwell, the popular agent for the Adams Express Company and K. & S. A. Railroad, accompanied by his wife arrived last night, and are registered at the Day House. They will remain over the week and take in the Fair.

Mrs. Cord and Robert arrived here Friday from Owenston. Mrs. Cord brought along a colored man and woman to do the cooking for the Home during the coming term, and the students will have good rating without attending the annual meeting.

Friends of THE HERALD will confer a favor by reporting all items of interest to James H. Swango, who has kindly consented to act as reporter for the DAILY HERALD. Give him the names of your visitors, their residence, etc., and other items you may know.

All honor to President Pieratt and his worthy lieutenants. Nothing has been left undone to make the Fair a success, and if every body don't have a good time, the fault lies within themselves, notwithstanding the cold water flings of a few disgruntled growlers and sore heads.

W. T. Caskey comes to the front this week with a column advertisement, in which he invites the patronage of all visitors to the Fair, and those who give him their patronage will be well pleased with their purchases. You can find no better place to deal. Don't fail to give him a call.

Read the advertisement of the Pioneer Store, J. T. Day, proprietor, and note the many bargains he is offering customers this week. He is one of the most enterprising men in this entire section, and the special prices he is making this week should attract many buyers from among those attending the Fair.

Do not fail to read the advertisement of Reed, Perches & Co., wholesale dry goods and notions, Portsmouth, Ohio, represented by Charles Uhl. Mr. Uhl and his firm are too well known in this section to need an introduction at our hands. Suffice to say he will treat you nicely and that you will find their prices and goods all right.

H. F. Pieratt & Co. have a column advertisement in this issue, to which your attention is directed, and by reading it you will see that they are anxious to secure your trade. In their anxiety they are likely to give you the best bargains they have ever given you, and as they pay the printer to invite you to see them, you will find them full of enterprise and a stock of the best goods usually found in a country store.

President Pieratt met with a very painful accident late yesterday afternoon. While riding through J. T. Day's livery stable a horse kicked him on the right leg inflicting an ugly wound. Late last night he was still suffering, but this morning he is on hands. Neither broken bones nor kicks of any kind can daunt a man of his nerve.

We notice that Hon. John P. Salyer and others have eaten up a patch of water melons for E. B. Perry, of Morgan county. We knew John P. liked water without the melon attachment, but are proud to know that he can also give some attention to the luscious melon. He once upon a time said that the editor of this paper had the best well of water in the world, and it is an open question whether he likes our water or Mr. Perry's melons the better.

The Wilmore Cornet Band, of West Liberty, arrived yesterday evening, and complimented THE HERALD office with the first serenade—The Drum Major. The band plays well, and we believe they will render entire satisfaction, both to the Fair Association and the visitors.

The following gentlemen compose the band: C. C. Maxey, Frank Haselrigg, T. E. Lykins, J. B. Lykins, John McMea, J. L. Kendall, F. P. Womack, J. F. Jones, Boyd Cole, Wall Allen, Will Gevedon, Boone Wells and C. W. Womack.

Howard left for home Monday, and Rev. Dunagan and family returned home Thursday. Large crowds attended every day, and more conversions than has been here for the last ten years. Come back again.

We are authorized to announce SAM HENRY WILSON as a candidate for sheriff of Wolfe county, subject only to the will of the people at the polls in November, 1894.

THE HAZEL GREEN HERALD, daily edition, this morning unites its bow to the public. It is the first time, perhaps, in the history of the State, that a country newspaper, and especially one in the mountains and remote from any railroad, ever had the temerity to make such an effort, and we truly feel proud of the distinction. To keep in line with progress, the swift and onward march, the enterprise of a few of our liberal-minded business men, and the timely arrival of a couple of typographical tourists of metropolitan experience, our venture is made possible, and, with Gov. Howell, of Kansas, we are ready to exclaim for once: "God save and bless the tramp." He is an American citizen of experience." And here we are reminded of the Biblical injunction: "Beware how you entertain strangers, lest ye entertain angels unawares."

THE HERALD of this morning is an infant industry in all the term implies, but, like our Fair, it is a big thing for our beautiful mountain town, and while we oppose protection in general, we ask a discriminating public to help us foster this one, and hope that it may receive the support and encouragement of all wide-awake, progressive citizens.

We extend a most cordial welcome to all visitors to the Fair, and the latch-string to THE HERALD hangs upon the outside to receive them.

Judge Beckner, Democratic candidate for Congress for short term, will address the people here on Wednesday morning, and John L. Bosley, his Republican opponent, will also be here. Hon. Jo M. Kendall, the Democratic nominee for the long term, will be here and address the people either on Wednesday or Thursday. Mr. Hopkins is preaching down on Dry Ridge, and may, or may not be here.

THE LONE STAR STATE.

An Interesting Letter From an Old Correspondent.

I was very sorry to learn of the death of my old acquaintance, Miss Jenny Robnett. I met with her some years ago at the residence of Mr. T. L. Johnson in Magoffin county, and have known her ever since. Miss Jenny was an efficient school teacher and a christian lady in every respect. It seems that death lives a shining mark, and so it proves in this instance. She will be greatly missed by her mother, brother and sisters as well as many of the young ladies of that vicinity, but, then perhaps she was needed in the "great hereafter" to add one more cherub to the bright seraphic host who make Heaven melodious with their beautiful music. In that land of eternal joy, she will wait for those who are yet journeying in this land of sorrow until they shall go to join her in the "sweet by-and-by."

I learn that an infant girl baby is to be sold somewhere near Gatesville, in Coryell county, at public sale in the near future. The father has offered it at private sale for the small sum of $40. What will the people of this United States think of doing next? I think it a good thing for the poor little infant if some kind parent would bid it in, and I also think the father ought then to be placed on the platform and sold to the highest bidder, and worked the remainder of his days as the slaves were before the emancipation of '64. Down with the cannibal howlers who are crying out hard times, and offering their own precious little babies for sale to support them in their low down idleness.

We had a good rain the 21st ult., which will be of great benefit to the cotton crop and late fall gardens. In all probability, cotton will now make a top crop which will add greatly to yield this year. Cotton is only worth from five to six cents on the market now, but I think it will be worth more by the 15th of next month. Near Granger, this county, and in several other localities cotton is badly damaged by the bowl worm. This will make the crop a little short in this part of the country, and if other parts of the State don't show up pretty well, cotton will doubtless go up to eight or nine cents in a very short time.

Mark Doe and Misses Daisy Wright, Nettie Hart, Bettie Webster and Nora Estes started in a hack to attend a camp-meeting at Scottsville, near Marshall, one night recently. A heavy rain came up amounting to almost a cloudburst, and in attempting to cross a small stream they missed the road, the hack overturned in the water and Misses Nettie Hart and Bettie Webster was drowned.

Near Caldwell, Texas, Miss Sophia Lobble, daughter of Henry Lobble, aged 16 years, was coming from the cotton field in a wagon loaded with cotton. Suddenly a flock of whistling snark the wagon, and the young lady was instantly killed. Two others received fearful shocks but recovered. The cotton and wagon caught fire, but it was extinguished. Recently, at Spring, Harris county, the mangled and lifeless form of Jack Ridgeway was taken from the belts and knives of Calfe's gin. Being a new hand, he was not cautious enough, and his shirt-sleeves caught on a cog-wheel, and in an instant his whole body was cut and torn to pieces.

Mrs. Verneer Wells was arrested in Kaufman county recently, charged with attempting to pour hot lead in her husband's ear. He awoke in time to knock the metal from her hand.

The Great Southwestern High School, at this place, will commence next Monday. This is a grand institution and noted for its remarkable superiority.

Georgetown is rather on a boom, having built three new churches recently, and spruced the electric light which every town and city ought to have.

Very respectfully,
Georgetown, Texas. WESTEESER.

WISE WORDS.

Truth wears a garment of rags and patches.
Genius is man's master; talent is his slave.

The mother in a woman makes her beautiful.

Justice is blindfolded so she can't see the travesties on herself.

Men's tears affect by their quality; women's by their quantity.

Remedy your deficiencies and your merits will take care of themselves.

Stories to suit the public taste must be half epigrams and half pleasant vice.

He that catches at more than belongs to him, justly deserves to lose what he has.

A man can always please a woman by letting her believe she knows more than he does.

The difference between an old fool and a young one is that the young one may outgrow it.

Faith is to believe what we do not see and the reward of faith is to see what we believe.

Those they stand, the innumerable stars, shining in order like a living hymn, written in light.

Adversity is the trial of principle. Without it a man hardly knows whether he is honest or not.

Stults teach not their own use; that is a wisdom without them and above them, won by observation.

A woman may doubt a man's sincerity when he pays her a compliment, but she doesn't doubt the compliment.

While one finds company in himself and his results, he cannot feel old, no matter what his years may be.

—Sir W. Raleigh.

It is one of the worst effects of property that it makes a man a vortex instead of a fountain, so that instead of throwing out, he learns only to draw in.
—H. W. Beecher.

There are important cases in which the difference between half a heart and a whole heart makes just the difference between signal defeat and a splendid victory.—A. H. K. Boyd.

Be a pattern to others, and then all will go well; for a whole city is infected by the licentious passions and vices of great men, so it is likewise reformed by their moderation.—Cicero.

Guilt is itself properly a double-liddled lie, the material prima of the devil, from which all falsehoods, imbecilities and abominations body themselves, and from which no true thing can come.—
Carlyle.

Shakespeare was great not merely by reason of his intellect, but the stage was then free; Goethe was great, largely because he was in position to decree literary laws instead of accepting them from inferiors.—Conway.

"But" is a word that cools many a warm impulse, stifles many a kindly thought, puts a dead stop to many a brotherly desire. No one would ever love his neighbor as himself if he listened to all the "buts" that could be said.—Bulwer.

There is no friend like the old friend who has shared our morning days, no greeting like his welcome, no homage like his praise; fame is the seatless sundowner, with gaily crown of gold,
but friendship is the breathing rose,
with sweets in the every fold.—O. W.
Holmes.

Statues of brass or marble will perish and statues made in imitation of them are not the same. But reprint a thought a thousand times over, carve it in wood or engrave it on stone, and the thought is identically and eternally the same,
the thing produced has in itself the capacity to become immortal, it is more than a token that the power that discovered it, which is the self-same thing as our consciousness of existence is immortal also.—Thomas Paine.

Barrow, the theologian, was a singularly serious child. When he was disin-clined to merriment it was impossible to make him laugh, such was his self-control.

Bernadotte, one of Napoleon's marshals, who afterwards became King of Sweden,
was educated in the office of a country notary, and spent his time in copying legal papers.

West, the painter, showed his talent at a very early age. He made sketches in churches before he was 19, and some of his early work displays great ease in the use of the crayon.

Marlin Van Buren began life as an office boy for a lawyer, rising slowly to the position of clerk, copyist and finally becoming a member in the courts of Justices of the Peace.
